The Devil's Footprints was a phenomenon that occurred during February 1855 around the Exe Estuary in East and South Devon, England. After a heavy snowfall, trails of hoof-like marks appeared overnight in the snow covering a total distance of some 40 to 100 miles (60 to 160 km). The footprints were so called because some people believed that they were the tracks of Satan, as they were allegedly ...

To go into a bit more detail, consider further the argument that the KBS Tuff is an example of the redeposition of volcanic ash. Therefore, the old dates returned by the Cambridge laboratory on three different occasions were thought to be the result of analysis of old sediment that had been mixed in with the new and deposited atop the relatively young fragments of KNM-ER 1470.

Highlights 104 Carbon footprints and 43 land footprints of protein sources are examined. Very large differences in impact between protein sources were found. In the life cycles, in general, the farm phase is the most important. Vegetal sources, poultry products and certain seafood have low carbon footprints. Ruminant meat and some types of seafood have high carbon footprints.

Motives Several motives have been suggested for the U.S. government to fake the moon landings - some of the recurrent elements are: Distraction - The U.S. government benefited from a popular distraction to take attention away from the Vietnam war. Lunar activities did abruptly stop, with planned missions cancelled, around the same time that the US ceased its involvement in the Vietnam War.
